"Belle" Fashions Add New Look To Hair-Dos

Frankly feminine and romantic "Belle" hair fashions will add the crowning element of grace and ease to the smartlooking look in the fashion picture for Spring and Summer, according to the Official Hair Fashion Committee of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association.

The new hair styles will be featured throughout the nation in honor of National Beauty Salon Week, which is being observed February 10 - 16.

This announcement was submitted by Mrs. Lorene Baldwin, president, Suburban Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, Unit 22. This organization is affiliated with the Va. State Hairdressers Association.

The new "Belle" hair fashions have a free and easy "down" line of bouncing waves and curls for daytime wear, which converts dramatically into a rising "up" line of brushed waves for evening wear. In both lines there is a disarming touch of glamour as an extra fillip to romance . . . a lovelock tucked in here, there, or almost anywhere. But, always there . . . and perfumed . . . in the best traditions of beaux and belles in the days of Elizabeth I.

Presbyterians in Farmville

Some twenty Presbyterian Churches in the Farmville District were represented by laymen and laywomen and ministers at a supper meeting at Hampden - Sydney College on Monday evening the 11th. Elder Leon L. Shewbake of Danville, presided over the meeting which was called for the purpose of giving information concerning the Presbyterian Development Fund. This was explained by Mr. Thomas, of Ketchum, Inc., as a financial campaign throughout the Southern Presbyterian Church for 12 million dollars; that while there was an urgent need for twice this amount this was decided upon as a sensible amount. He explained that the funds were needed for the forward progress of the Church to extend the Church at Home; to Extend the Church Throughout the World; to Enlighten Men's Minds in our Institutions of Learning; to Disseminate the Word of God Through Christian Education, by means of a New Curriculum Literature for use in Church Schools, and by means of TV, Radio, and Visual Aids; and to Help Administer the Work of the Church through the erection of a new Presbyterian Center.

Dr. Joe Mullin, of Kentucky was the inspirational speaker for the meeting. Dr. Mullin challenged those present to lay hold on the "Sense of Mission" to which God is calling them through the Southern Presbyterian Church. He stated that it was his belief that the contribution of the Jews to the world was due to their sense of mission from of old; and that this also accounted for the greater contribution and progress of the Christian Faith. He challenged all Presbyterians to share in the "Sense of Mission" to which God was calling them today.
